Woodstock and Greenwood voters tell Augusta to ban 'jet-skis'

By a margin of 3-1, voters say the craft do not belong on local lakes

By ALISON ALOISIO

The arguments were pretty much the same as they have been, and in the end, both Woodstock and Greenwood voted by three-to-one margins to recommend that "jet skis" be banned on ponds in the towns.

Voters from the two towns met separately at special Town Meetings Tuesday to decide an issue that has been hotly debated for several months.

Woodstock's vote was 47-17, while Greenwood voted 33-10. The recommendation -- along with those of any other Maine towns voting on the issue -- will go to the commissioner of the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, who will make a recommendation to the Legislature. If legislators ultimately approve towns imposing bans, the law would then go into effect in Woodstock and Greenwood, according to Greenwood selectman Marie Bartlett.

'The people who have those craft, can move those craft -- but we can't move our lakes.'

Tuesday's matching votes also mean an interlocal agreement will go into effect between the towns if the recommendation is approved, making the ban consistent on ponds shared by Woodstock and Greenwood.

Opponents have cited the "jet skis" excessive noise, wake jumping, prolonged circling and dangerous operation as reasons they want the craft banned.

Supporters, on the other hand, argue that the problem lies with the operators, not the "jet skis" themselves, and better enforcement of existing watercraft laws would be the best solution.

At the Woodstock meeting, Den Corrin speculated that the time may come in the future when "jet skiing" as a sport achieves the same respectability snowmobiling now enjoys.

Corrin, a cross-country skier, said in the earlier days of snowmobiling, he objected to the way the drivers operated. But his opinion has changed in recent years, he said, be-

Fire-station options will get closer look

Bethel Public Safety Committee asked for more detailed information

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Selectmen have instructed the members of the town's Public Safety Committee to put some solid numbers to the four options it suggested earlier for dealing with the space and structural problems at the town fire station.

In June the committee proposed a range of options, ranging in cost from $250,000 to $1.6 million.

For $250,000, the committee estimated, the town could refurbish the current fire station; for $1.6 million it could construct a new building, on land in Bethel Station, that would house not only the Fire Department, but also the rescue service, Police Department and Town Office.

The other two options were 1) refurbishing the fire station and adding space there for the rescue service ($500,000), or 2) constructing a new building in Bethel Station, but for the Fire Department and rescue service only ($1.3 million).

Is 110-foot snowman coming to Winter Fest?

By ALISON ALOISIO

Bethel will soon be known as the "Home to the World's Largest Snowman," if the Bethel Winter Fest Committee can pull off its plan to build a 110-foot-tall snowman at Bethel Station in December.

Organizers plan to use snowguns to make snow for the project, which, if successful, will land Bethel in the Guinness Book of World Records. The current record is held by a 96-foot seven-inch snowman that was built in Japan.

"We were looking for something fun and exciting to attract people to Bethel," said Paula Wheeler, special events coordinator for the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. The Winter Fest is scheduled for Jan. 9 and 10.

The snowman would be built on the vacant lot located at the intersections of Cross and Lincoln streets and the Parkway.

Organizers are planning 60-foot, 30-foot and 10-foot snowballs, respectively, for the snowman's base, torso and head. The head would likely be lifted into place in a

Andover Woods Products plans major expansion

By ALISON ALOISIO

A planned $12 million, five-phase expansion at Andover Wood Products is expected to bring at least 70 new jobs to the company over the next 10 years, the company announced last week.

The mill, which currently employs 130 people, is owned by the Ethan Allen furniture company, headquartered in Danbury, Conn.

Much of the wood for the glued panels produced at the mill comes from several regions of Maine, according to company officials.

The first phase of the five-phase project is already under way. Four new 64,000-foot drying kilns are under construction, at a cost of $1.4 million. When completed, the kilns will expand the mill's drying capacity from 125,000 board feet a week to 250,000.

Four other phases have also been proposed, but have not yet been approved by Ethan Allen. Phase two would include a planer and cut-off building, which will update equip-

Rebel playoff action starts today

By ALISON ALOISIO

Telstar High School's field hockey and soccer teams begin playoff competition this week ranked #2 and #3, respectively, in Western Class C.

The field hockey squad (11-4) plays a quarterfinal game against #7-ranked Falmouth in Bethel today (Thursday), beginning at 3 p.m. Last year, it was the Rebels who were ranked seventh, and they lost to Dirigo in the quarterfinals.

This year, says coach Gail Wight, her players are in better physical shape than they were going into the playoffs last fall. "They've been pushing themselves," she said. "They're playing really well. The Leavitt and Jay games proved that (the Rebels' last two games, both victories)."

Wight said she knows little about the Falmouth team her squad will face. Telstar did not play them in the regular season.

Soccer

The soccer team (9-2-3) will play Saturday at home against #6-ranked Hall-Dale, beginning at 1 p.m.

Like the field hockey team, last year's soccer squad was also ranked #7 and lost in the first round, to Carrabec.

One of the Rebels' only two losses this season came at the hands of Hall-Dale, midway through the season. "It will be a tough game," said coach Charlie Raymond of Saturday's rematch. "But if we play our

Editorial

Was Greenwood 'jet-ski' vote fully informed?

We think not, and we fear some potential voters in both Greenwood and Woodstock may have been operating on a false assumption when they decided not to attend Tuesday's special Town Meetings.

That assumption? That this was not to be town voters' final say on whether or not to ban the personal watercraft, but that after local recommendations were bounced to Augusta, the issue would come back to the towns themselves for a final up-or-down vote on the question.

That is how the process was described at least twice in The Citizen, based on our interviews with people involved locally with the issue -- and that reporting was not corrected later by any of the people we spoke with.

And, said Nancy Willard, president of the Lakes Association of Greenwood and Woodstock, ban supporters were themselves unclear about the matter until earlier in the day Tuesday, when a call was made for legal clarification.

At the Woodstock meeting Willard explained to those assembled that this would be their last say on the matter; but in Greenwood some voters -- to judge from their comments -- did not realize this.

And we have to wonder -- and feel some responsibility for -- all the voters who stayed home.

Perhaps this is a small matter, a procedural confusion of no real significance.

But we fear not. We in no way think that ban supporters deliberately obfuscated the already convoluted procedure set up by the Maine Legislature, but if voters here were not fully aware of the consequences of their votes, then the impact of the message they hoped to send to Augusta is certainly weakened.

We'd be interested to know what our readers think.

Letters

SUPPORT QUESTION 1

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to urge all those interested in the future of higher education in Maine to support ballot Question 1.

Maine currently ranks 49th in the state investment in university-sponsored research and development. This ranking makes it difficult for us to seriously compete for the available $22 billion in federal grants for research. Question 1, the $20 million R & D bond on this November's ballot, is an opportunity to make a significant investment in the underfunded research and development capabilities of the state and University of Maine System. The bond issue will be one of only two bond referendum questions on the ballot on Nov. 3. If passed, it will distribute the monies to three entities: the University of Maine System, the Maine Science and Technology Foundation, and the Gulf of Maine Research Laboratory. The monies will be used to upgrade research and teaching laboratories and equipment in areas directly responsive to the needs of our key industrial sectors. These modern research laboratories will greatly enhance the competitive position of the university researchers as they seek grants from federal agencies.

Investment in R & D is an investment in Maine. Research and Development has proven itself to produce jobs (good, high-paying jobs, which are needed in Maine).

Investment in R & D is Maine's investment in itself and its economic future.

Investment in R & D means that our universities will be able to attract high-quality faculty and as a result, attract high-quality Maine students, who will in turn be able to graduate in Maine, get jobs in Maine and prosper in Maine. As I witness each year more and more of our high school graduates opting for a higher education outside the state of Maine, it compels me to push this issue even stronger.

Investment in R & D means that Maine will also be able to continue to help its traditional industries of fishing, farming, and forestry.

Therefore, I strongly urge approval of Question 1. It is an investment in Maine's future that will strengthen our system of higher education, benefit the cultural and economic climate of the region and, most important of all, provide enhanced opportunities for our students.

THANKS TO NTL

To the Editor:

The planning committee for the SAD44 staff development day would like to thank National Training Laboratories for its facilitation and participation on Friday, Oct. 9. We felt the day was extremely valuable and will significantly influence our work as we try to establish both better discipline and a better climate in our schools.

NTL, under the direction of Charles Seashore and Norma Jean Anderson, listened to our needs and concerns and created a daylong workshop to begin us on our journey toward improving respect within our schools. Kathy Schandelmeier coordinated NTL's local efforts. Their help was appreciated, and we look forward to further assistance from them as we extend this into our classrooms.

RETURN OF A LANDMARK--A new paint job is restoring the Bethel Opera House to its original Victorian color scheme. The condo owners in the building went to the Bethel Historical Society to ask historian Randy Bennett's advice on the color. The Victorian style calls for a dark, bold trim with lighter color walls, in contrast to the pastel blue and white paint scheme the building has displayed for the past 15 years. "It's an important old building, and it will again be prominent on the Common. We highly approve of what they're doing," said Bennett. He also had praise for the Bethel Inn's efforts to preserve its color scheme while building its large addition.

An Organic Odyssey

By MIKE BROWN

I have just recovered from a visit to the 1998 Common Ground Fair which occurred a few organic weekends ago.

My doctor said his waiting room had been full of fairgoers with turned ankles, dust cough, extreme food indigestion, bladder stress and other organic fair maladies. He sent me home with a pack of aspirin and a prescription for two weeks' bed rest to purge my body of Common Ground conditions.

He requested I write a brief report of the fair and send it to him so that next year he could be better prepared for his overflowing waiting room. He agreed that my report could be made public in the interest of recovering body parts.

Route 220 in Maine's Waldo County, the fair's lifeline, resembled a refugee road backed up for miles with old Volkswagens full of home-schooled bratty kids and shedding, snarling Siberian Huskies.

A couple of creepy hours later, arriving at the organic parking lot ravine and dodging lamb-bone munching Husky Volvo sitters, the signs said this way to the enchanted forest path. The tall timber wood was impressive with its surface of big-time organic rocks turning ankles of senior citizens who were unaware that they had only a mile to go before the aid station.

Gate keepers in official MOFGA organic Mississippi bottom cotton T-shirts stamped hands of fairgoers with six-months-before-disappearing organic New Jersey ink after buying a ticket. Immediately one was amazed at the number of vertical gray coffin relief stations mindful of an often-played game of youth -- kick the can. The can queues were long and should have been painted beet red.

The fair was in the shape of a wagon wheel laid on a plain pasture field or as some suggested, a Stonehenge monolith with a large granite sundial set for all-year organic Common Ground Time. Or as others in nostalgia wistfully hissed -- Woodstock Re-Visited.

Environmental concerns, greenings and political action tents took up half the wheel relegating conservatives and non-political animals to the sheep herding rim. One could pat the peaceniks but not the Festus mules who, as the demeaning caution signs read, mules think fingers are carrots.

Sometimes, however, it was hard to distinguish between the mules and the peaceniks because of the dust clouds that swirled around the wheel. One intrepid fairgoer, in a dust storm, had his finger bitten in the Breastfeeding Task Force tent.

There were spokes and spokes of food concessions, all organic of course. Let's see, there were organic fried seafood from the organic oceans, organic Bombay rice, Tokyo egg rolls, New York cheesecake, Mary had a little grilled lamb on a stick, Stupid Turkey on a bulkie and Ban the Bomb Bagels halved right before your eyes with a Stihl chain saw.

Drink booths were busy because of the dust. Organic cider from acid rain-sprayed apple orchards was big but not the paper cup serving. Strange fruit drink alchemy caused some reactions among the yuppie vegetarians who ran out of packed-in Poland Spring water. Fresh squeezed lemonade stands are always popular with happy hippies and sour flies.

Maine crafts are the big tent organic feature of Common Ground. Spin a yarn, throw a clay, pound some iron, hand knot linen, skin a drum, water a color, tile a tex, silk a screen, snap an image, soap a bar -- it's all there and more.

But alas, there comes a time for egress. There was a 30-minute wait for a shuttle to the parking lot, if one could call a clipity-clop horse and a bailed-hay wagon a shuttle. Many braved another hike through Little Red Riding Hood's forest trail passing the brave, the organic wolf weakened, the dust eaters and the swollen anklers littered beside and on the trail.

If you've seen one Common Ground parking field you've seen them all. Finding the pickup took another half hour meandering among the Volkswagens, psychological moment hued VW buses and snapping Husky bumper guard dogs on braided hemp leashes.

One empty space had a cardboard sign saying, "Kids, if you find this, call home, mom." Another had a box of free organic barn kittens. And another giving Common Ground the bird.

It will probably take MOFGA about 10 years to get their uncommon ground in shape. And another decade to convince the Maine Legislators to first find and then widen Route 220's country lane into organic fair passable.

That's about it, Doc.

Briefly

Route 26 northbound sensor planned

WOODSTOCK--A "Speed Too Fast When Flashing" sign will greet speeding drivers in both the northbound and southbound lanes on Route 26 in Bryant Pond, selectmen learned Tuesday. The town had earlier been told by MDOT that only the southbound lane would have such a sign, but Town Manager Vern Maxfield said MDOT then contacted him and said a second sign would also be installed for the other lane. The signs and sensor system will probably be set up in December, he said. But a plan to replace the existing flashing yellow warning light over the intersection with flashing arrows has been changed, Maxfield said. The arrows do not comply with state regulations, so the current light will remain. The curve has been the scene of several tractor-trailer rollovers in recent years.

Polling hours to change

WOODSTOCK--Selectmen Tuesday approved two scheduling changes in connection with the Nov. 3 election. The polls will open at 8 a.m. instead of the usual 9 a.m., to accommodate people headed to work. The closing time will remain the same (8 p.m.) And the selectmen cancelled their regular meeting that would have taken place that evening at the Town Office, the polling site. They will meet next Nov. 17.

Stay away from pipelines

BETHEL--The Portland Pipeline Corporation is reminding off-road vehicle drivers to avoid pipeline rights of way. There have been a few incidents in which the vehicles have damaged the line while driving through wet or muddy areas. Such damage can lead to possible leaks. The underground lines operate under high pressure, and are protected against corrosion by an exterior coating. The company also has agreements with landowners for the rights of way and cannot give permission for the public to use them. For more information call PPLC at (207) 767-3231. Damage should be reported to the Maine State Police at (800) 482-0730.

20 named to 2003 committee

BETHEL--The Bethel Board of Selectmen have named 20 residents to the town's new 2003 Committee, which is to be responsible for making recommendations regarding the implementation of the town's recently revised comprehensive plan. The large number of committee members was necessary, the selectmen said, because of the extensive amount of sub-committee work that is expected to be required. Those named to the committee are: Jan Baker, Donald Bennett (a selectman), Janet Black, Cynthia Blake, Ken Bohr, Alan Cressy, Jack Cross, Donald Feeney, Ruth Feeney, Barbara Fiore, Jonathan Grimm, Ruth Grover, Suzy Harrington, Walter Hatch, Ginger Kelly, Bob Laux, Georgia Taylor, Michelle Vanolo, Esther Wilson and Rebecca Zicarelli. Also this week, the selectmen appointed John Gray to the open seat on the Bethel Water District Board of Trustees.

Signs vandalized

WOODSTOCK--Several political signs supporting the re-election of state Rep. Rob Cameron were removed from the spot where they were placed on the Mills Road and were found a mile north, according to campaign worker Evelyn Bean. Another, smaller sign was also taken and found by the railroad tracks. Cameron is seeking re-election for District 70 (Rumford, Woodstock and Milton).

Blood donors needed

ANDOVER--The Andover Fire Department and Ladies Auxiliary are sponsoring a blood drive with the American Red Cross Monday, Oct. 26 from 2 to 7 p.m. at the Andover Fire Station. September and October blood collections have not met the American Red Cross Blood Services collection goals. Blood donors, especially those with types O, A negative and B negative, are needed. The Andover collection goal is 40 pints. For more information or to schedule an appointment, call Ken Dixon at (207) 392-3171 or the American Red Cross at 1-800-GIVE LIFE. Walk-ins are welcome, but appointments are preferred. The next area blood drive is scheduled for Nov. 9 at Gould Academy in Bethel.

WMNF annual report is late

CONCORD, N.H.--The White Mountain National Forest has yet to issue its 1997 annual monitoring report, and the Conservation Action Project is calling the U.S. Forest Service on the delay. The report, which is required each year under Forest Service regulations, is meant to provide public information on the effects of logging and other management activities on wildlife, water and air quality, recreation and other public values. CAP called on WMNF to suspend all resource extraction and development projects until the report is issued. Another conservation organization, RESTORE, said in a letter to the Forest Service that in the last 11 years only six annual monitoring reports have been issued.

Hutchinson speaker at MLT

BETHEL--Alan Hutchinson, executive director of the Forest Society of Maine, will speak at the Mahoosuc Land Trust's annual meeting Sunday, Nov. 1. He will discuss the mission of the society and its role in the working forests of Maine, and how the society can work with organizations like the Mahoosuc Land Trust to achieve common goals. The meeting begins at 7 p.m. at the Moses Mason House.

Carrabassett to decide school plan

CARRABASSETT VALLEY--Voters will decide Monday whether to enter into a 10-year contract with SAD58 or set up a town-based school system. The proposed contract would provide education for the ski town's 30 elementary students, while older students might attend Carrabassett Valley Academy. Articles on Monday's Town Meeting warrant ask residents to either approve the contract or allocate funding for research into a community school system. A community school scenario would likely involve an arrangement between the town and CVA. CVA's Board of Trustees recently voted to support a partnership with the town if voters reject the contract arrangement with the public school system. If voters ultimately approved the community school option, the town would likely tuition students to CVA or hire the school as an independent contractor. A straw poll last spring showed overwhelming support for the town-based system.

Ski Expo to benefit MHS

NEWRY--Maine Handicapped Skiing has been chosen as the prime beneficiary for the Portland Press Herald Ski and Snowboard Expo scheduled for Oct. 23-25 at the Portland Expo Center. Two raffles will be held at the event to benefit MHS -- a Salomon ski equipment package from Joe Jones valued at $600, and a week-long ski vacation for two at Heavenly Valley Resort in Nevada. The $3,000 prize includes roundtrip airfare to San Francisco, five days of lift tickets, accommodations at the Tahoe Seasons resort and a rental car. Raffles will be drawn Oct. 25. The Expo is open from noon to 8 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Cancer support program offered

NORWAY--Area residents who have cancer and their family and friends may attend the "I Can Cope" cancer support program offered at Stephens Memorial Hospital, beginning Oct. 27. The program, co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society, consists of a series of six classes and is offered free of charge. The program is designed to help people with the challenges that arise from a cancer diagnosis, and gives participants an opportunity to share their concerns with other cancer sufferers in a supportive atmosphere. The program covers a wide range of topics including cancer diagnosis and treatment, side effects of chemotherapy, nutrition, stress management and more. The first class will be held Oct. 27 from 5 to 6:30 p.m. in the library at Stephens Memorial Hospital. The following five classes will be held on subsequent Tuesdays at the same time and location. There is no charge, but registration is required. For more information or to register, call Robin Green at (207) 743-5933 ext. 379.

From the Bethel Police log: Shut-off patron objects

At 8:25 p.m. on Oct. 17 an employee of a Bethel restaurant reported she had refused to serve a patron alcohol after the employee judged the subject had consumed too much. The subject then became obnoxious and caused a scene inside the restaurant. On arrival the officer brought the subject outside and spoke to her, but she did not understand the situation because of her intoxication. At the request of management, the subject then left with her husband.

Friday, Oct. 16

At 12:45 p.m. a vehicle was stopped on Main St. for inadequate exhaust. A license check showed the driver was operating without a license (Mass.), operating an unregistered motor vehicle, and had illegally attached license plates. Dan E. Kaufman, 23, of Bethel was arrested for the offenses.

At 6:35 p.m. police assisted an Oxford County Sheriff's deputy with the execution of an arrest warrant for Bradley Benson on the Northwest Bethel Road.

Sunday, Oct. 18

At 12:50 a.m. a driver was stopped on Railroad Street for a vehicle defect. The subject, a juvenile, showed signs of intoxication and was tested and subsequently arrested for OUI. He was taken to the Oxford County Jail, where he was given a breath test (.16 percent) and issued a summons for OUI and illegal possession of drug paraphernalia.

'Jet skis'

cause snowmobilers are now generally courteous on the trails.

If the personal watercraft sport eventually "matures," Corrin said, voters might consider different legislation, but for now, he favored banning the craft on small ponds.

Discussion on the issue lasted about 45 minutes before the vote was taken.

In Greenwood, Joe Cole appeared to sum up the feelings of many in the audience when he argued that "jet-ski" are usually trailered to where they will be used, and so could easily be trailered to lakes more suitable for their use than are the relatively small bodies of water in Greenwood and Woodstock.

"The people who have those craft, can move those craft," he said. "But we can't move our lakes," he said.

Bartlett said Wednesday she knew from the large number of pond residents attending the Greenwood meeting that the vote would go in favor of a ban. The only surprise, she said, was that several people who do not live on ponds also turned out to support a ban. "That was excellent," she said.

Other articles

Woodstock and Greenwood also considered other issues at their meetings.

Woodstock voted to sell by sealed bid a lot on Railroad Street. Several parties have expressed interest in it, according to Town Manager Vern Maxfield.

Voters also accepted a gift of property located in front of the Whitman Memorial Library and owned by Fran and David Head.

Finally, residents approved placing a street light at the intersection of Routes 26 and 232.

In Greenwood, residents voted to move a total of $30,000 from the tree growth and FEMA ice storm accounts into the truck account to purchase a new three-quarter-ton pickup truck and plow.

Fire station

Public Safety Committee, said the five active members had all come to the same conclusion following their own inspections of the building. "I don't think there's a member of the committee wants to go the route to repair it or spend a lot of dollars on it and in the end not come up with the package we could somewhere else," he told the selectmen.

In addition to its structural problems (including sunken floors, doors which are too narrow and walls that cannot be effectively insulated), he said, the present building is too small for modern fire trucks, and its site is too small to allow it to be adequately expanded.

"It seems to us that to try and renovate the present building to meet the present needs will far out-reach building one for the future that we wouldn't have to worry about again," said Vautour.

Committee member Punky Davis said the possibility -- and cost -- of renovating the fire station had been discussed at length with a consultant engineer, "and after about two hours of him talking and going around and around, I said: 'If you were on this committee what would you do?' And he said: 'I wouldn't spend the money on the building.'"

But selectmen think not

But, whatever the merits of replacing the fire station, the selectmen did not think the timing was propitious -- especially in view of the fact that voters have recently agreed to borrow $1.3 million for another major project, the upgrade of the wastewater treatment plant.

They also questioned the wisdom of consolidating town departments

(as called for in three of the four options).

"In the last three years we've made decisions in at least two cases to keep some services separate, one being the ambulance and the more recent being the Police Department," said Bob Chadbourn.

Chairman Dutch Dresser said it might be premature to propose now that town departments be consolidated. "Maybe some time in the future Bethel will be ready to consolidate services," he said, "but I don't think it's now."

More detail sought

Dresser also said that before any proposal could be brought to the community more information about the exact costs and ramifications of the various options needed to be available.

The next course of action for the committee, Dresser said, was to generate that information.

Vautour characterized the earlier cost figures for the four options as "guesstimates," and he said the committee was willing to move ahead with its work -- including developing more detailed financial data -- but only if the members had thought some form of action would result from their efforts.

"I would not like to see the committee go through the work we put into it last year with the outcome we had last year. We understood that times were tough and the sewerage plant was staring us right in the face so we backed off, but if we're going to put time into this project, we'd like to see something come out of it this year."

That something, Vautour suggested, should be either the purchase of a piece of land or the commitment to hire an engineering firm to come up with solid figures for renovating the present structure.

But, said Dresser, the selectmen were not in a position to make any assurances.

"This board can't assure you that anything will happen. We have cart-and-a-horse problem -- we could go to the public and say 'we need a new fire station,' but if we don't have sufficient information to educate them the chances approach zero real fast, so it seems to me we need to demonstrate the various avenues and let the public decide how to go."

The committee members agreed to come up with a cost to renovate the current fire station, an estimated cost of a new station, a cost for a piece of land, and an analysis of possible operating-cost differentials between the present structure and a new facility. "We've discovered big operating-cost differentials between the old town garage and the new one, and those need to be a piece of the thinking," Dresser said.

Selectman Reggie Brown said that with that information, "we can put it out to the public and go from there."

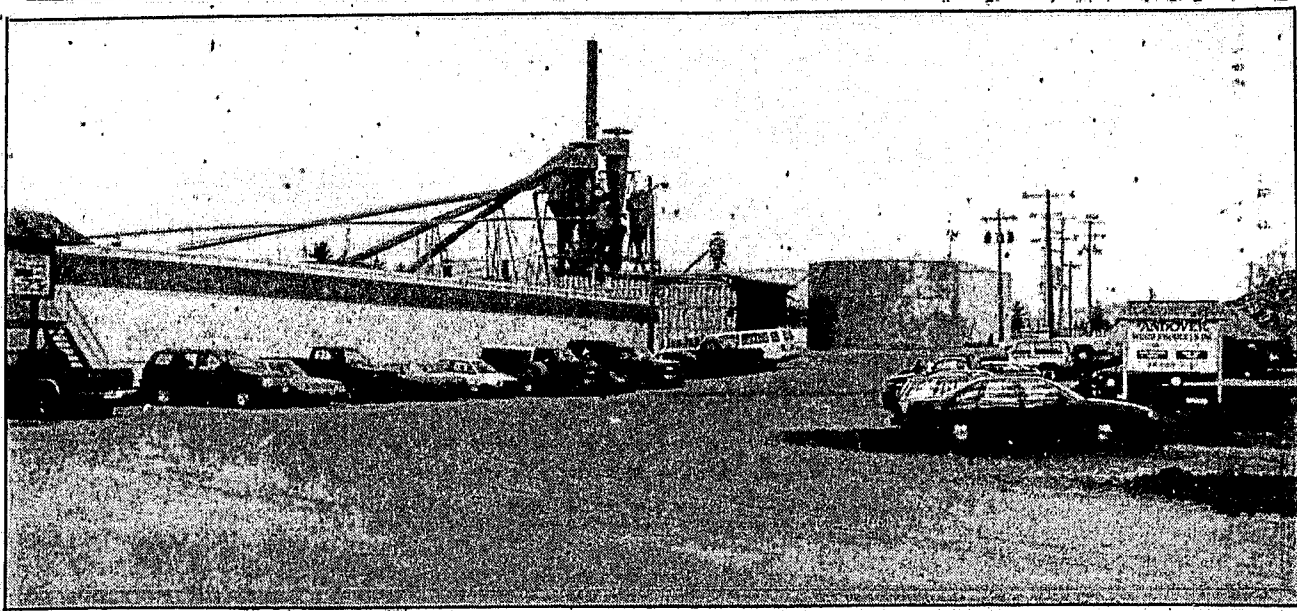

New members appointed

In a related action Monday, the selectmen appointed Dr. Kevin Finley to the committee, and appointed Fire Chief Jim Young as a member ex officio.

That leaves one opening on the committee. The town will advertise the position.

Expansion

ment to increase volume, yield and worker safety, while lowering the net cost of production. Phase three would include construction of a dry-storage building that will maximize dry kiln capacity and provide for interconnected transport of dry lumber from the kilns to the rough mill.

Phase four would provide for a pre-kiln shelter to house the original kiln and keep it out of the winter weather, while phase five would provide for construction of a new one-floor manufacturing plant that will be adaptable to future internal enhancements.

The state is also utilizing its Business Equipment Property Tax Reimbursement program to save Ethan Allen $1 million in taxes during the next 12 years.

Valuation a plus

Wendy Green, selectman in Andover, said of AWP's plans, "We are excited this is going to be an asset to the town for valuation. And it might bring more work for people here, and job training."

Snowman

box by a 160-foot crane.

Wheeler said builders would first make wet, icy snow with a snow-gun, then carve it into balls.

Skidder tires would be used for the buttons. School children will likely make the hat, and area church groups will be approached about making sections of a scarf to wrap around the snowman.

"We want to get the community involved," Wheeler said.

She said she knows one of the builders of a 46-foot snowman created in St. Albans, Vt. in 1982 -- the first snowman entered in Guinness. That project took about two days, she said.

No one has yet estimated the number of gallons of water needed to make the snow. The Vermont snowman didn't melt until May. Wheeler said the committee doesn't anticipate any problems with drainage as the Bethel snowman melts.

"A 100-foot snowman could be there for a while," she said.

Setting the record would be an impressive marketing achievement for the area, Wheeler said. "It's an effort to put Bethel on the map," she said.

The committee does not need approval from the Planning Board for the snowman, because it is considered neither a structure nor a sign. Organizers may, however, need permission from the Bethel Water District to tap into a hydrant for water to supply the snowgun.

And the town selectmen have expressed concern that the town might have a liability exposure if the snowman were to topple and injure someone. Town Manager Phil Tarr was instructed Monday to check on the matter with the town's attorney.

Sign plan back to drawing board

A proposal to advertise the "Future Site of the World's Largest Snowman" through four, 4-by-8-foot signs placed at Bethel Station for three months received a frosty reception from the Bethel Sign Committee last week.

The plan called for two "future site" signs on the Parkway end of the Bethel Station lot adjacent to Western Maine Supply, and two signs carrying names of sponsors and logos on the Cross Street end of the lot. The signs would be displayed from Nov. 22 to Feb. 22.

"We have sought and received approval from the Bethel Station land owners for this important project and hope to gain your support as well as we work to bring Bethel the distinction of being the 'Home to the World's Largest Snowman,'" Wheeler wrote in a letter to the Sign Committee and Planning Board.

But Sign Committee members asked the Winter Fest committee to come back with a scaled-down advertising proposal -- one with fewer signs, no sponsors, and a shorter time period for display.

Bethel's temporary-sign ordinance allows signs to be displayed for a total of seven days during any 90-day period, and only on the property of the permittee.

Exceptions have been made for special projects, according to Mary Rosberg, Bethel's planning assistant. An exception would require a waiver.

quarter-century of service.

Brown was asked why he first decided to run for the board, back in 1970. "It was something to do on Monday nights -- and Tuesday, and Wednesday, and Thursday ..." he said. (Directors have frequent nights out at both full-board and committee meetings.)

He's had only a few months off here and there since 1970, while others tried their hand at the job.

Brown served as chairman for a total of four years and vice chairman for five, and has also put in many years on the board's Policy, Negotiations and Personnel committees.

Brown said his involvement in the Woodstock and Crescent Park school building projects have been the most satisfying aspect of serving on the board. Most frustrating, he said, have been personnel issues and problems over the years.

Prior to his service on the School Board, Brown, the former editor of the Bethel Citizen, served as a Bethel selectman for four years.

Another adventure -- nine days at Fryeburg Fair. Bob has a hobby, "woodturning." We spent time in the Forestry Building displaying his hobby. What can be done with wood? What is a burl? What is spalted wood? Do you know butternut wood? I had a sample of a piece of pretty wood and asked many of the woodsmen going by if they knew what it was. Not many people knew. It caused much conversation. It was lilac wood and has a pretty purple center. We had a wonderful week visiting with old friends and new friends. Also got the "Judges' Special" award.

Frances Gunther is undergoing physical therapy at Market Square Nursing Home for a few weeks.

The annual Pig Roast/Lobster Dinner last Saturday, hosted by Denny and Rita Wilson in their colorfully decorated garage, was enjoyed by over 100 of their friends, relatives and employees. Stuart Cross saw to the lobster pot and Nancy Wight manned the grill; old-time band music was enjoyed throughout the meal.

Reading is so important. "Book it," a reading program, is being sponsored by Pizza Hut restaurants. This is a quotation attributed to Helen Keller -- "Keep your face to the sunshine and you cannot see the shadow." Sandy Dennis is donating a book a week to Crescent Park School library. CPS is participating in a type of fundraiser, "Comics for Classics," and they encourage families to donate old comic books to the school. Many have comic books no longer being read taking up space in attic or barn. These comic books will be sold to generate funds to purchase new classic library books for the school. A great idea.

Sandra M. Caton of Ashland was one of the Blue Mountain Arts & Crafts Festival crafts displayers with her Native Maine Driftwood Santas at Sunday River Ski Resort on Oct. 10 and 11. Tom Caton was in the area with her and they stayed during the weekend with Linc and Sue Fiske. While here, and before leaving Tuesday, they called on Bud and Linda Howe, Seth and John, Dana and Barbara Douglass, Lefty and Mary Keniston, Carolyn, Jack and Barbara Brooks. They were sorry to miss Stan and Elizabeth Lord, who were not home a couple of times when they stopped to visit. They enjoyed a tour of the West Parish Congregational Church with Brendon Bass and viewed the changes and renovations.

Bob and Ginny Keniston attended a family gathering at Martha and Glenn I. Bangs' in Dresden on Saturday, to celebrate birthdays of their two great-grandchildren, Abigail Bangs, 2, and Kalyann Bangs, 5. Parents are Glenn M. and Julie Bangs of South Paris.

Sue Howe, with parents Rodney and Gerry Howe, returned Saturday after spending nine days in Florida. On Friday, they spent the day with Marge and John King in Lakeland. The Kings took the Howes to Cypress Gardens for the day.

The fourth- and fifth-grade soccer teams have been divided into four teams in order to give all players a chance to play. The focus of the program is to improve skill level and game understanding. Good sportsmanship is the most important component.

On Oct. 7, the Greenwood Historical Society met at the Meeting house on Main Street, Locke Mills. The slate of officers for the new year are: president, Blaine Mills; vice president, John Davis; secretary, Joyce Hathaway; treasurer, Betty Hollis; trustees, Raymond Seames, Ron Estes and Denise Swan. Dances are held the second and fourth Saturdays of each month at the Town Hall, with the Richard Felt Band furnishing music. There will be a New Year's dance.

Norman B. Clanton of San Antonio, Texas, returned Tuesday after spending a week with his son and wife, Norm and Sylvia Clanton.

Peter and Lisa Roth and sons of Chapman Street had friends from Texas visiting several days last week.

The Junior Girl Scout Troop 569 girls in third, fourth and fifth grades met Tuesday, Oct. 20, from 3 to 4:15 p.m. in the CPS cafeteria. Questions about the troop should be directed to Linda Gamble at 824-3060.

Ronnie Hanscom reported 4.75 inches of rain in his gauge from Oct. 8 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, the 11th. I did not have my gauge out but I feel that I certainly got that much and probably more, as it certainly rained at times, and when we compared rain during the summer, I usually had a little more than he did. Enough for a few days anyway.

A group from the Bethel Alliance Church went to the Bridgton Alliance Church and joined with other churches as well for a worship service on Sunday, Oct. 11, in the evening.

Pastor Rick's message for Sunday, Oct. 11, was "First Things First."

Congratulations to Stephanie and Arthur Bragdon on the birth of their son, Matthew Arthur Bragdon, at Stephens Memorial Hospital on Oct. 9. He weighed in at 6 pounds, 11 ounces. Ronnie and Christine Hanscom are the proud maternal grandparents and Rodney and Kathleen Hanscom the proud maternal great-grandparents. Matthew has a half-sister, Denise Walley, and a half-brother, Keith Walley.

Paul Bartlett visited his mother, Helena Bartlett, at the Bethel House recently. He took her for a ride over Grover Hill.

Jean Palanza was at the Bethel House two days recently to get the income figures from the residents there so the rent can be figured for 1999. This has to be done annually.

Eva Lane is at Rumford Community Home. It is reported that she is gaining. Her address is: Mrs. Eva Lane, P.O. Box 430, Rumford, ME 04276. I am sure she would enjoy cards and company.

Vada Glover came to visit me on Monday afternoon. We played cribbage and now at 918 games, I am at last ahead once more by four games. We went to the Rebel Family Restaurant for supper and then to visiting hours for Robert Cole at the Andrews Funeral Home in South Woodstock. We had a chance to visit with a lot of people that we had not seen in a long time. We were there at 6 p.m. and stayed until nearly 8 p.m.

Beverly and Dick Melville gave me an old Bible that was among Bob's things and had been given to sister Ella by our grandmother, Ella Davis Hanscom, in 1919 by her sisters Nora and Addie. I certainly treasure the Bible. Grandmother gave it to Ella in 1929.

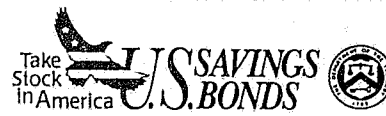

Margaret Quinlan and I were among those to attend the funeral service for Robert Cole on Oct. 13 at the Locke Mills Community Church. The Rev. Deborah Jenks and Pastor Rodney Hanscom did the service. Beverly Melville and Roy Lurvey sang "In the Garden."

Hymns sung by the congregation were, "Amazing Grace," "How Great Thou Art" and "I was There to Hear your Morning Cry." Sharing in memories and stories were Charles Newell, Rodney Hanscom and Beverly Melville. A reflection was given by Debbie Jenks. Pallbearers were Ellsworth Hathaway, Roy Lurvey, Dana Melville, Richard Melville, Charles Newell and Raymond Seames. The Ladies Circle served refreshments after the service. Bob was buried by his first wife in the Riverside Cemetery in Bethel.

John Kallis has been moved from Stephens Memorial Hospital to Norway Rehabilitation Center on Marion Avenue.

Margaret Quinlan, Doris Ouellette and Irene Russell attended the senior citizen dinner in West Bethel on the 14th.

Jason Pendexter was at the Bethel House Wednesday and got part of the windows washed. He took my air conditioner out and changed the screens in my door to glass. But the screens are down in my windows so I can have air.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

We deserved the beautiful weather on the weekend after the preceding week of incessant rain. Indian summer is such a gift. We all need more time to say goodbye to summer and square things away for the winter ahead. Saturday and Sunday found many people out walking and chatting with their neighbors. The sunsets were incredible over the lake.

The bird of the week has got to be the pileated woodpecker. One flew directly in front of my windshield on the way to Errol Sunday morning. We are both lucky we lived to talk about it.

The guns are booming away around the lake. Duck hunters are out in force. Most of the ducks have flown south, but there are a few too young to fly with some lazy stragglers. New Hampshire allows Sunday hunting, so there are lots of shotgun echoes on the Maine side. Moose season opened in New Hampshire on Saturday. By mid-morning several had been checked in at Frannie Coffin's in Errol. I saw two dressed-out moose in trailers at the station. Their racks were huge and beautiful. I'm not a sissy, but it still makes me feel badly to see them. Considering the accidents and damage to vehicles and lives, I accept the hunt as reasonable. My good friends, Earl and Lucille Largesse, nearly lost their lives and totaled their car in a collision recently. I'm sure they want no part of them.

This week we received two more donations from sponsors of the Bell Tower Fund. Jeanette and Lionel Roy of Berlin, N.H., and East "B" Hill and Wendy and Doug Warren of Andover are the latest in a line of generous people. The Warren donation was in memory of William Thomas Warren and Ida Jerusha Fuller Warren. Doug Warren is their grandson. Tom Warren came to Upton from Prince Edward Island as a young man and married Ida. They

Redmans celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Redman were honored recently on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary at a family gathering held at their home in Bryant Pond.

Mrs. Redman is the former Irene Heikkinen of West Paris. The couple were married Aug. 28, 1948, at Albany, with Lillian L. Brown, Justice of the Peace officiating. Attendees were Frank and Jean Mills of Bryant Pond. The Redmans have made their home in Bryant Pond all of their married lives. They have three children, Lorraine Sinclair of Rumbold, Thomas Redman of Bryant Pond, Susan Gregson of Lovell, and five grandchildren.

Mr. Redman retired in 1988 from Gilbert Mfg. Mrs. Redman retired in 1993 and remains active in American Legion, Order of Eastern Star, and is a member of the Finnish-American Heritage Society. The couple were treated to a lobster feast and presented with flowers, cake, and gifts including commemorative champagne glasses and personalized anniversary plate. Lorraine proposed the toast to her parents. Susan designed and made the cake and plaque. Family members attended from Bryant Pond, Rumbold, Lovell, and Dover, N.H. Three of the couple's grandchildren were present, and they received a telephone call from their granddaughter, Nicole Cross, of West Palm Beach, Fla., who was not able to attend.

had six children. Bernard was the youngest, born in 1906. He died in Massachusetts in 1984. The Warrens have retired to Andover, on the other side of East "B" Hill. Doug was the police chief in Boxford, Mass., for 27 years. Boxford, like Andover is a beautiful New England town. Doug is also a descendant of Phoebe and Lysander Fuller.

The Culinary Arts Scholarship Dinner at The Balsams was held Sunday evening, Oct. 18. Attending from Upton were Theresa Stanczyk, Liz and Walter Stanczyk, Sandy and Gene Wixom and their guests, Janet and Ken Lewis and Woody and Linda Gersten-Laver and yours truly, Ellie LeComte. I wouldn't miss this gourmet meal. This is an annual event at The Balsams and it is no surprise when it is a sellout. The many course meal is done by the interns. It was not your average beans and franks supper by any stretch of the imagination.

I don't have a closing thought this week, so I'll just close.

Congratulations to Jeff and Jolene Littlehale, who were married Oct. 9. We wish them many years of happiness together.

Wallace Hussey, a former South Woodstock resident, called me recently to see how we were all doing up this way. He has lived in Maryland for many years and gets up to this area once in a while. He said he's in hopes to make a trip up next spring to visit everyone.

Larry Billings, curator of the Woodstock Historical Society, reports that at the October meeting President Kathleen Bean announced committees and Paul Billings presented a program on Maine trivia. Curator Billings had decorated the museum with flowers and Olive Risko gave a research report. Robert Billings of the finance committee said a Thanksgiving basket is planned. The November meeting will feature a film on a lighthouse. The society is looking forward to a successful year.

Mason Township

by Richard Grover

It's been a busy time in our section of Mason lately. Big sister, Verna Thayer, has been blessed with visits by grandson Scott Thayer and wife Susan on the weekend of Oct. 10-12. Scott likes to hike in the White Mountains when the leaves are in their fall colors. Then grandson Steve Thayer spent the night of Oct. 15 with his grandparents while he was traveling in New Hampshire on business. Son Skip, his wife Robin and two huge Labrador dogs were here Oct. 16-18; they came to Maine to see a University of Maine football game on Saturday.

Rupert and Ina Grover have also been busy with visitors as well as trying to get ready to move into their new home. Niece Mickey Davidson (Walter Grover's oldest daughter) from Atwater, Calif., arrived Oct. 16 to spend a couple days. Mickey has been visiting her daughter, Jennifer and her family, who recently moved to Bath. Both Jennifer and her husband are retired with two years service in the U.S. Navy; they all traveled to Mason on Sunday to visit and to take Mickey back to Bath for a few more days.

Rupert and Ina also spent the day Saturday, assisted by sons Rupert Jr. and Daniel and assorted other family members, moving furniture into the new house. Now, they plan to be living in the new domicile within the next day or two (Monday or Tuesday). Various contractor personnel are still in the process of finishing up details, electrical switches and lights, some flooring, trim and exterior stonework, as well as the downstairs apartment. The house is very spacious, beautiful and very livable even as I write.

Dan and Nancy Grover were also blessed with a weekend visit by daughter Martha. Martha is a first-year student at Bennington (Vt.) College, and this was her first time home since school started around the first of September. She says she likes the college environment there.

Mona and I spent the weekend of Oct. 8-12 camping in Northern Maine with Craig Ryerson, Jane Lowe and Joe and Peg Perham. We all had a thoroughly enjoyable time there, bird hunting, moose watching, and just enjoying being out in the "boonies," despite intermittent light rain much of the weekend. Now, I'm here to tell you that Craig and Jane are great folks to go camping with if you like to eat well and often. We had all agreed ahead of time that each couple would furnish the main course for one evening meal, but Jane also had another complete meal, whoever's turn it was (chicken parmesan, partridge fittas, T-bone steaks and Craig's specialty, birdog pie. Craig says he only makes it once a year, but it is worth waiting for. Although the recipe is secret, I will tell you it involves partridge meat and Maine red hot dogs. Delicious.

Stay healthy this winter!

OCT 22 1998

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi readers, I've been told that a group of young people in town met last week and want to get a winter carnival organized for this year. They are meeting once a month at the Stoneham Fire Station, the second or third week in the month on a Wednesday. They call themselves the Community Events Committee. The carnival is to take place during the February school vacation. Contact Tonya Fox at 928-2340 or 545 Main St., Stoneham, with any questions; Vicky, Valerie, Becky and Kara are also involved. Also, they are selling candy bars for a fundraiser. Albert bought some but was told to hide them, as my resistance to these things is usually very low. He did a good job because I haven't found them -- yet!

On Monday, Oct. 12, eight members of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Stoneham Tent 19, went to Bryant Pond for supper and inspection meeting. There were four from the Norway Tent 8 and eighteen from the Bryant Pond Tent 17. It was a delicious supper and good meeting. Before the meal there was a table with items to silently bid on at 50 cents a chance. This was fun and a small fundraiser, and most people got what they wanted.

The meeting was begun at 7:15 p.m. by President Michelle Cary. Heidi Shugars and Heather Shugars filled in as color bearers. Appropriate readings were done by several members. Also, a few words were spoken by our DUV national president, Gail Butterfield, DUV Maine department president, Beth Jones and DUV Maine department inspector, Joyce Gouin. The national president's project this year is packets of historic note cards for sale, which are nice. It was noted that the Tom Watts orders have been sent in. Also, the DUV sweatshirts are available in navy blue with white lettering now.

Lois Niemi has gone to New Mexico to visit her daughter, Donna, for a couple of weeks. She will also visit her grandson, Jamie, who is attending college there. Marian Paine accompanied Lois and they flew out of Portland Jetport last Saturday.

Sharon and Nowal Traish and Iona Hunedy and Nafisa, Nadia, Mazin and Zane all of Belmont, Mass., were at the Traish cottage at Lake Keewaydin this past weekend and attended the Fryeburg Fair. They sure got wet, but the kids don't seem to mind too much.

Andover

by Tina Farrington

John Emery's fifth-grade class at Andover Elementary School hiked White Cap on Friday, Oct. 16. Chaperones included Mark Farrington, Glen Conrad, Rick and Carolyn Mills, Ed Deroche and Shelly Downs. Despite the wind and cool temperatures at the top, everyone had a good climb. Grade-five students are: Cindy Farrington, Jessica Farrington, Kayla Mills, Crystal Matthews, Sherry Downs, Blake Conrad, Steven Scotti, Curtis Hughes, Dan Chenery, and Brett Hutchins.

Mrs. Carolyn Fisher of Sacramento, Calif., has been visiting relatives in the area recently.

Mrs. Vivian Barlow will be staying at the Rumford Community Home (former Cozy Inn) for the next few weeks until she is able to travel to her winter home in British Columbia. A note of encouragement, phone call, or visit would be very welcome.

Get well wishes are extended to Mary Bailey, who recently spent a few days in the hospital.

Twenty horses and riders enjoyed the third annual "Turkey Trot" last Sunday, hosted by David and Carol Holtzman of Deertrees Arabians in North Andover. The weather was fabulous for the trail ride, which left from Deertrees on Sawyer Notch Road, over near the Wentzel property, up to Grover's Orchard, down to Sawyer Notch, up over Copperfield Valley and back to Deertrees. After the ride, a wonderful home-grown turkey dinner was shared by all.

Don't forget the annual Holiday Craft Sale on Oct. 24, from 9 to 12 a.m., which is being held at the CEB at the Andover Congregational Church. The kaleidoscope quilt raffle will be drawn.

Thirty-four members and guests of the "1918 Club" met in Rumford on Oct. 12 for a foliage luncheon. Twenty-two towns and cities in Maine were represented. President Violet Swain donated gifts. Anne Arnold of Rangeley, Mary Philbrick of Kennebunkport, Phyllis and Roger Woodcock of Augusta, Phil Meserve of Mechanic Falls, and Martha Sanborn of Gorham received them. Seven other members were unable to attend.

Kaleidoscope, the free, all-volunteer, child-friendly activity time for preschoolers through kindergartners, meets on Wednesdays from 1 to 1:45 p.m. in the Christian Ed Building (CEB) at the First Congregational Church in Andover. Kaleidoscope's schedule follows the SAD44 school calendar. For more information, contact Anne Marie Mahar at 392-1131 or Mary Zurchorst at 392-1045.

"Brownies" will be meeting every Wednesday from 3 to 4:30 p.m. in the gym at the Andover School. For more information, contact Twyla Dolloff at 392-1841.

The Andover Parent-Teacher Group (APT) will be meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 27, at 6:30 p.m. Parent-Teacher Conference day will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 10.

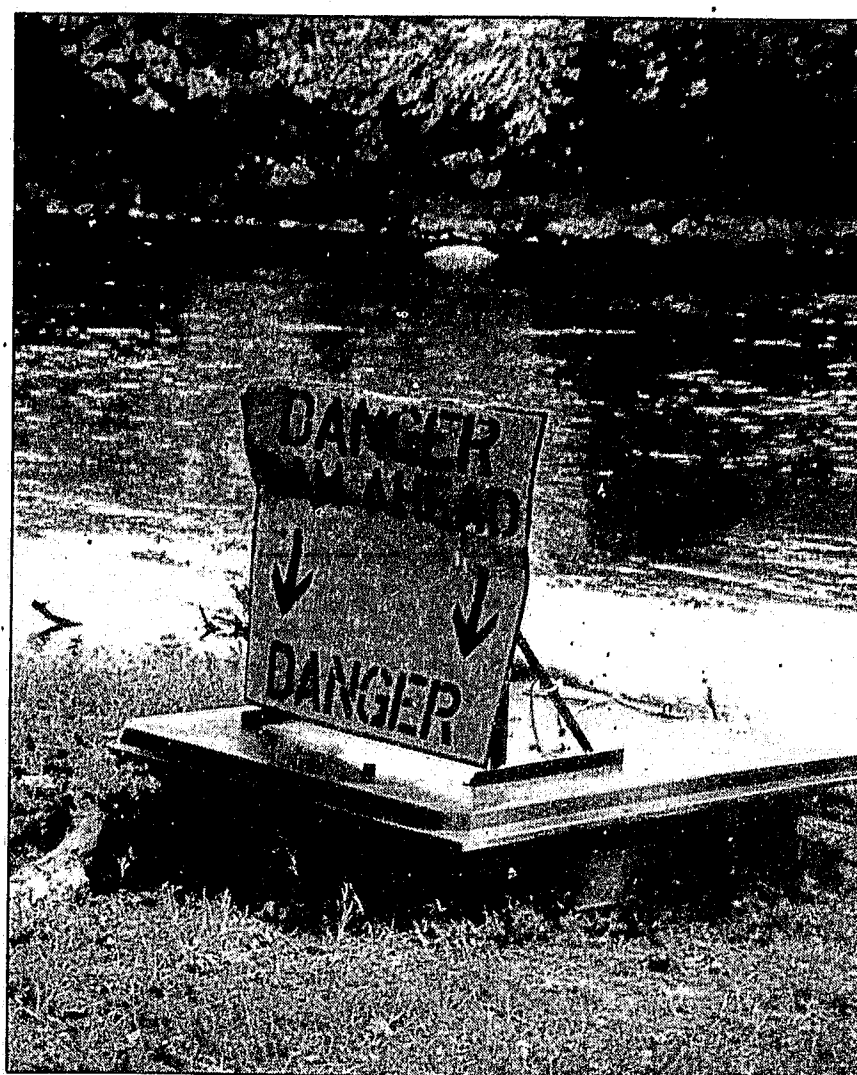

There will be a Halloween dance at the Andover school on Friday, Oct. 30, from 6 to 9 p.m. Grades four and five, along with a special invitation to Andover sixth-graders attending TMS, are eligible to attend. There will be a $1 admission charge and refreshments will be available for a small fee. Proceeds will go toward the fifth-grade year-end trip.

North Newry

by Gil Seeley

The Newry Mothers Club met on Oct. 12 at the Town Building at 7:30 p.m., with seven members present. Also present were four members of the Newry Recreation Committee, Nancy Babbcock, Kathy Trefethen and Bonnie Largess, to discuss the upcoming Halloween Party (Oct. 31). President Laura Lowell opened the meeting, and the secretary/treasurer, Pattie Lowell, read the notes of the last meeting and brought the finances up to date. Refreshments were served by Nancy Wight and Karlene Bachelier. All Newry children and friends are invited to the Halloween Party on Oct. 31, from 1 to 3 p.m., so wear your best costumes. There will be games to play, special treats to eat and a haunted house. See you there. The next meeting will be Nov. 9 at 7:30 p.m. Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Eleanor Davis and Doris Parent were at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford doing some bowling for fun one day last week. On the first string Doris beat Betsy by 18 pins. On the second string Doris beat Betsy by four pins and on the third string Betsy beat Gil by 11 pins. So on the overall scores, Doris was high on the singles and also high on the triples, beating Betsy by only three pins. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

Happy 19th birthday, Dani Littlehale, Oct. 16.

Dick and Margaret Hunter of Tafton, Pa., visited Sylvia and Bill Wight, and other relatives in town, last week. They went to the Community Home and saw Dan Wight and had dinner with Rosalie and Eric Wight.

Windy Valley's Snowmobile Club will hold a meeting at the home of Ed Bennett and Nancy Thew at 7 p.m. on Nov. 3.

The Bryant Pond Universalist Church has opened for the fall with services on the first and third Sunday of the month. November dates will be Nov. 7 and 23. Services start at 9 a.m.

Judith Grover Tent 17, Daughters of Union Veterans, met on Monday, Oct. 12, with a 6 p.m. supper and a joint inspection with Hannah F. Richardson Tent, Stoneham, and Elizabeth Crockett Blake Tent, Norway. There were 30 in attendance; eight from Stoneham, four from Norway and 18 from Judith Grover. All officers were present except two color bearers and one council member. Heidi and Heather Shugars were color bearers one and two; they were from Stoneham. It was reported that Judith Grover Tent sold $386.50 in Tom Watt sales. The penny collection was given to the department pig. National president, Gail Butterfield; department president, Mary G. Jones; department inspector, Joyce Gouin; and national secretary, Sally Sawyer, were introduced and welcomed. There were 14 department officers present. Department inspector, Joyce Gouin, spoke briefly about changes in officers' report forms. Department president, Mary Jones, spoke and also the national president, Gail Butterfield; her project is membership. It is both an honor and a privilege to be a descendant of a Civil War veteran. Joyce Gouin had a reading on "Columbus Day" and Helvi Cary read facts on the "Northern Most Road" in 1864. Fifty calls were reported. The next meeting will be Nov. 9 with Sally Sawyer and Alice Hoyt on refreshments. General Orders were read. Remember the National President's reception is at Doubletree Inn in Portland on Nov. 7 at 6 p.m. It was noted that in March of 1999 Judith Grover Tent

Greenwood City

When we see the asters and goldenrod blooming beside the road and leaves beginning to turn; when there is coolness in evenings and the foxes bark on the hillside; when the owl speaks from the woodland, and the crows are restless, prepare yourself for the troubled world and realize that those ancient ordained forces still govern our flowering, fruiting earth.

When looking to the heavens on a clear night or watching the golden glow of a sunset or the sparkling lights of your neighbor's across the valley; when the moon sails serenely among the stars, again one fills his heart with reassurance and confidence that a better man-regulated world will come.

On one of those beautiful days lift your eyes to the hills, and open your heart to their messages. This is when discords and entanglements will fall into proper perspective. I always find it that way and why dwell on only the mundane things of life?

Our valley is gorgeous with color and one of the brightest is the red of the woodbine. It has begun to flame in the woods and along the rivers. It has a habit of climbing to the top of a dead tree or a pole. It tries to rival the maple.

Now the fields and meadows bring us a contrast to spring colors. Then we had the weaker shades of yellows, blues and the purple has arrived; New England aster, ironweed and thistle.

I'm ever grateful that I can again walk some and find tranquillity in the beautiful autumn world.

A centuries-old scene, ever new Sunsets brighter than red flame. Never two that are the same. In my memory's admiration, I daily review God's great creation.

There were two birthdays in the family this month, Sally and Jeri, so Fay made two separate cakes. Sally was here to enjoy with the others of the family but Jeri was in Washington, DC, so did not come. We usually get together and have fun on each birthday. No more until 1999 when Ann and David are first in line.

Gery Stevens of Tennessee was in town all week and came to visit me one afternoon. He was one of my boys in school. I was pleased to see him.

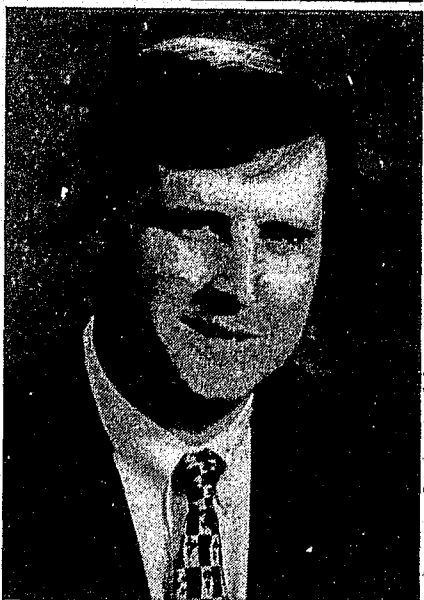

It is nice to see 22 cows again in the farm pasture.

Milton and Eleanor Inman have returned home from work at Fryeburg Fair. I am happy to see them at home again.

I have had several visitors this week; one of whom was Barbara Honkala of East Bethel, whom I had not seen for a long time.

There has been a change in tenants at the Hayes House and the Hakala House on Patch Mountain Road.

The soccer team (9-2-3) will play Saturday at home against #6-ranked Hall-Dale, beginning at 1 p.m.

Like the field hockey team, last year's soccer squad was also ranked #7 and lost in the first round, to Carrabec.

One of the Rebels' only two losses this season came at the hands of Hall-Dale, midway through the season. "It will be a tough game," said coach Charlie Raymond of Saturday's rematch. "But if we play our game, we can beat anyone in the league."

Achieving a record that gives them home field advantage for the game, he said, "was a great accomplishment for them. This is one of the best teams Telstar has ever had."

City Planners

Linda Kuzyk's fifth grade students at CPS have been working on a project that involves math, social studies, geography and cooperative group work.

The math focus was geometry, with the study of geometric solids. They took it to another level with the study of the five Platonic Solids.

From there, the kids broken into groups of four and five to plan a "city." A mayor was appointed, along with city planners and architects. The challenge was to design and create a city that included seven components: transportation, education, economy, culture, housing, government and recreation.

The buildings had to be constructed using only Platonic Solids. In addition, each structure needed to be named according to its use and reflecting the name of the solid; for example, "Tetrahedron Taxi Station," or "Hexahedron High School."

The cities had to be built on an island, a peninsula or near a gulf or harbor. Rivers and lakes were also included.

One of the strong points was the interaction that took place

A DAY AT THE FAIR—On Sept. 16 second graders from Crescent Park and Woodstock schools enjoyed Agricultural Day at the Oxford County Fair. The students learned about the various methods of raising crops and livestock. They also visited booths and asked questions about conservation.

among the students in each group. There were moments of indecision, stubbornness and arguing, but they all learned that compromising was important so the project could continue to move forward.

There were five groups, and in the final analysis, five wonderful cities. It was great!

FEEDING TIME—Katie Driscoll, Harley Gordon and Paige Tuttle of CPS feed the horses at the Oxford County Fair. Students also saw llamas, sheep and oxen.

THE BIGGEST TOADS—The Andover Elementary School recently held its annual "Big Toad Day" Sept. 18. Each student was encouraged to find the biggest toad possible and bring it to school for judging. The winners and their toads' weights were (from left): Deagan Conrad, second, 128 grams; Michael MacKnight, third place, 120 grams; Whitney Palmer, first, 152 grams.

GRADE FIVE STUDENTS AT CPS prepare to leave for Leadership/Team-Building Training at the Maine Conservation School. The two-day workshop provides students many opportunities to develop the characteristics necessary to become school leaders.

SCHOOL PARTICIPATION—Elizabeth Forkus and Mathew Lauro from Mrs. Meisner's second grade at the Woodstock School are shown here sharing during the "All School Meeting," held every Friday afternoon.

LEARNING SCIENCE—Andrew (AJ) Keith explores items on the science table in Mrs. Smith's p.m. kindergarten at CPS.

Agnes Gray School

by Maria Clements
Where has the first quarter gone? Ranks close on Oct. 30 and report cards will be coming home on Friday, Nov. 16. Parent conferences will be held on Monday, Nov. 19. Notices will be sent home the first week in November for parents to indicate whether they prefer an afternoon or an evening conference.

Other dates and activities to make note of are: Halloween parties will be held in all classrooms during activity period on Friday, Oct. 30. Since Halloween does not fall on a school day, there will be no costumes or parade this year. We are going to try to have as normal a day as possible.

Our third-grade teacher, Mrs. Merrill, and a committee of students are planning a special project for Make a Difference Day, which is Saturday, Oct. 24. They will be at the school from 9 to 11 a.m. and will be collecting nonperishable foods to deliver to the Food Pantry in Norway. Canned goods and other nonperishables can be sent in ahead of time, or dropped off on the 24th. The children may be going door to door, also. Call Mrs. Merrill at 674-2332 if you have any questions.

Our first school-wide fundraiser will be undertaken from Oct. 26 to Nov. 6. This will be a walk-a-thon sponsored by our Parent Volunteers. We are enjoying all the new playground equipment that past fundraisers have brought us. This year money earned will go toward purchasing many things that can be used in classrooms and for special activities.

Our home school counselor, Greg Grigsby, has included news about two free workshops for parents offered by the Oxford County Extension. The first one is called "Temperament" and will explore the temperament traits to help adults better anticipate and understand the child's behavior and reactions. It will be held Oct. 28 at the Extension Office in South Paris from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and also on Oct. 29 at the MollyOckett Middle School in Fryeburg from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The second workshop is on "Positive Discipline" and will explore the never-ending task of discipline in parenting and child care. This will be held on Nov. 4 at the Extension Office from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. or on Nov. 5 at the MollyOckett Middle School from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

Other dates in November to keep in mind are: the next Parent Volunteer meeting will be Nov. 10 at 6:30 p.m. in the school library. We are going to try to stick to a regular meeting date, the second Tuesday of the month. We want to, and we do more than fundraising. Come and join the fun.

However, we are planning one more fundraiser in November, our apple pie sale. Last year we sold 100 delicious pies, and could have sold more. We will be sending home information on how to order, date for pickup, etc. If you don't get this information, but would like to order, please contact the school.

Our first Super Event of the year will be held for all classes on Friday, Nov. 20. Northern Stars Planetarium will present their terrific shows in the gym. No one will want to miss it.

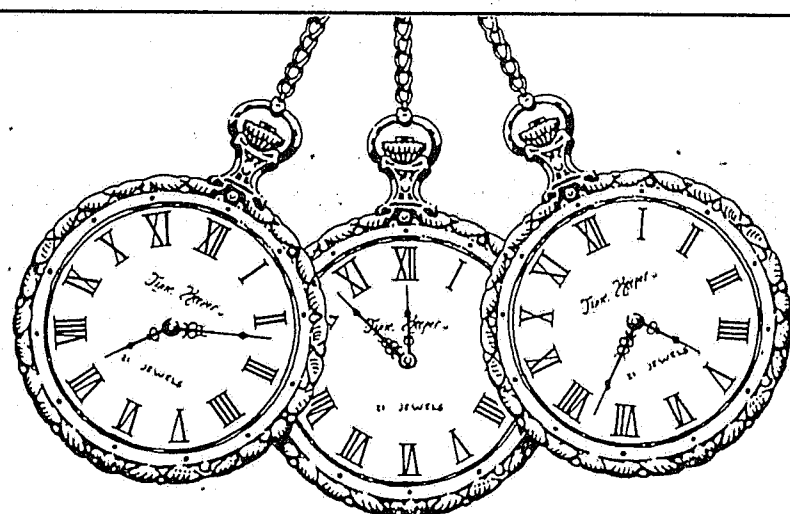

On Saturday, Nov. 28, students from grades four, five and six will be eligible to ride on the Shop 'n Save Christmas float. I'll write more about that in November, but all students will be able to march in the parade beside the float, and we will need lots of adults, too. This is an activity we can do because of our new partnership with Shop 'n Save.

Students in grades K, one, two and four have already been on fun and educational field trips -- more news about this next time.

SEXUALITY PRESENTATION
Marja Brandon Drevitch will present a special evening on "Sexuality" Oct. 28 for parents of Telstar Middle School students. The meeting will take place in the Telstar Library beginning at 6:30 p.m.

This week at the

Moses Mason House

Society Director Stanley R. Howe attended the annual meeting of the Maine Archives and Museums in St. Andrews, New Brunswick, Canada, last week. The meeting was held jointly with the New Brunswick Museum Association. Sessions dealt with a number of topics including disaster planning, fundraising, museum education, visual literacy, museum marketing, and innovative ideas from a variety of institutions in Maine and New Brunswick. There were also tours of museums, gardens and historic sites.

Two consultants, Ron Harvey of Tuckerbrook Conservation in Lincolnville and Harold Holland, a conservator at the New Brunswick Provincial Archives, spoke on disaster planning showing a number of case studies of museum disasters ranging from fires to floods and how they might have been prevented from happening. The key to preventing such occurrences, according to these consultants, was the presence of comprehensive opening and closing procedures. They divided disaster planning into five stages: goals, resources, activity, leadership and updating. It was essential that copies of important records, including the disaster plan, be available off site and that human safety always be number one ahead of collections.

Mary Blatherwick, art educator and president of the Sunbury Shores Arts and Nature Center, made a particularly strong case for starting visual literacy early with our youth. Learning about line, color, texture, shape, balance, repetition, contrast, background, distortion and juxtaposition is essential, she opined, if future generations are to become aware of basic principles. She cited the case of historic preservation where so many "horrors" are created each day by those not sensitized to these concepts, casualties of visual illiteracy. She quoted Einstein who wrote, "The soul never thinks without an image" to underscore the increasing preponderance of visual images over the written word in today's society. "The illiterate of the future will be ignorant of pen and camera alike," she said. Students need to be trained to stop, observe, and analyze what they see, essentially learn to see critically and become esthetically aware.

From the

West Paris Grange

West Paris Grange 298 will sponsor a Flu Shot Clinic on Monday, Oct. 26, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Grange Hall, 4 Church Street, West Paris. The shot is free with a Medicaid or Medicare B card, otherwise there is an $8 charge. For more information, contact Bertha Benoit at 674-3962.

The Grange is also sponsoring the annual Rabies Clinic on Saturday, Oct. 31, from 10 to 12 a.m. at the Grange Hall. Cost will be $8 per animal. For more information, contact Bertha Benoit at the above number.

From the

Bethel Senior Citizens

Sixty members of the Bethel Senior Citizens Club met on Oct. 14 at the West Bethel Grange Hall for the monthly meeting and dinner. Louise Twitchell and Arlene Lowell made cakes which were served with ice cream for dessert.

Helen Saunders, president, conducted the meeting and led the salute to the flag. Reports were given by Colleen Boyd, Rudy Royer and Arlene Lowell. The door prize was won by Muriel Butters and the raffle, which was a pair of home-knit stockings made by Joyce Bennett, was won by Colleen Boyd.

The next meeting is Nov. 18 and will be at the Locke Mills Legion Hall. Fourteen birthday cards, four get-well cards and two sympathy cards were sent out by the sunshine committee.

Richard Hosterman and Barbara Mahler are on the nominating committee.

Janie Hosterman introduced the speaker, Bethel Police Chief Darren Tripp. He gave a very interesting and informative talk on protecting yourself against scam artists. Never give your social security number over the phone; never buy anything over the phone unless you know the company; never give your credit card number and beware of anyone doing home repairs, check them out at the town office or call the Better Business Bureau. Always keep the doors locked. Call the police, they are there to help you.

October birthdays: Beatrice Brown, Charles Burnham, Evanna Davis, Sylvia Dunham, Dottie Grant, Gene Grant, Madeline Hunt, J.R. McGinnis, Florence Merrill, Randal Stevens, Martha Sweatt, Rose Taylor and Bill Young.

From the United Methodist Women

Members of the Bethel United Methodist Women are busy preparing for the annual fall fair scheduled for Nov. 13 and 14 at the church. Luncheon will be served both days from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and a variety of foods and craft items will be on sale until 4 p.m. The ladies have been meeting each Thursday afternoon in the church dining room to work on craft projects and are inviting anyone interested to join them for an hour or two each week from 12:30 p.m. on. For those unable to join the group, donations of sellable items would be greatly appreciated.

The next regular meeting of the UMW will be held Thursday, Nov. 5, at which time plans for the fair will be finalized.

From the

Telstar Alumni Association

The monthly meeting of the Telstar Alumni Association was held on Tuesday, Oct. 13, at 6:30 p.m. in the Telstar library.

Eight members were present and plans were finalized for the dance to be held on Oct. 31, from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills, with music by the Impalas, featuring on lead guitar, Bob Tift (Class of '71) and lead singer, Peter Knight (husband of Cris Henry Knight, Class of '72). Everyone over 21 is welcome to attend. Tickets are on sale at Preb's in Bethel or by calling Sally Smith at 875-3335 or Judy Coolidge at 824-4005. Prizes will be given for the best costumes.

On Oct. 29 (Thursday), there will be a meeting of the Track Committee in the Telstar library at 5 p.m. Everyone who is interested in finding out more about getting a track at Telstar is urged to attend.

The concession stand at the Homecoming games was a huge success, and the Alumni Association would like to thank everyone that helped. Members of the association hope to do more of that type of thing at more sports events in the future.

Once again, don't forget the dance on the 31st with the Impalas, and come dressed up or down and win a prize. See you there.

The next alumni meeting will be held in the Telstar library on Nov. 10 at 6:30 p.m., and all alumni are welcome to attend.

NOTICE

OPERATION OF 4X4 VEHICLES ALONG PIPELINE RIGHT OF WAY

Portland Pipe Line Corporation owns three pipelines that transport crude oil and natural gas between Portland, Maine and the Province of Quebec. A portion of the pipelines is buried in a common right of way that traverses the State of Maine. The pipelines, which operate at high pressures, are protected by an exterior coating material and an impressed current cathodic protection system to protect the pipelines from external corrosion. In recent years we have encountered an occasional, but very serious, problem with 4x4 vehicles entering the right of way without obtaining permission from the landowners and driving the vehicles through muddy & wet areas. These vehicles have severely damaged short sections of the pipeline right of way and the underground Pipeline facilities. The damage that has been done by the vehicles could potentially cause a pipeline leak and jeopardize the safety of people in the surrounding area and damage the environment.

The pipeline right of way, which is identified by signs, is leased from landowners along the pipeline route. Our agreement with the landowners allows the landowner to utilize the property for uses that are compatible with the safe operation of the pipeline. The agreement precludes constructing permanent structures, paved parallel roads, unauthorized digging, logging or heavy machinery traffic that could damage the pipeline, its protective coating, or the cathodic protection system. Driving OFF-ROAD vehicles through wet or muddy areas of the pipeline right of way could damage the pipeline facilities and cannot be permitted.

The dirt lane roads that exist on much of the right of way are located on private property that is utilized by the landowner and the Pipe Line for local access. Driving on these dirt lanes without permission constitutes trespassing.

Federal regulations (DOT 49-CFR-192/195) require pipeline personnel to complete aerial and ground patrols to verify the integrity of the pipelines and to maintain the condition of the right of way in case access is required for maintenance repairs, to respond to an emergency situation, and to ensure the safe operation of the facilities.

This matter has been reviewed with the Maine State Police, and future incidents of unauthorized vehicles traveling the right of way and jeopardizing the safety of the pipeline will be reported to the Maine State Police for enforcement action.

Portland Pipe Line Corporation believes these incidents were not intended to be malicious and hopes that this advertisement will inform people of the danger involved in driving 4x4 vehicles on the pipeline right of way.

Please call PORTLAND PIPE LINE CORPORATION COLLECT at 207-767-3231 or the MAINE STATE POLICE at 1-800-482-0730 to report any incidents.

D. BRENT MANN

D. Brent Mann, 43, died unexpectedly Saturday, Oct. 17, 1998, as a result of a motorcycle accident in Simi Valley, Calif. He was a resident of Kasten Street, Simi Valley, where he had resided since 1992 and was formerly of Mexico, where he had lived most of his life.

He was born in Rumford on Feb. 16, 1955, the son of W. Walter and Millicent (Plant) Mann, and had attended Mexico schools.

He was an active member of the Simi Valley Moose Lodge and a member of the M.M.A. He felt closest to God and most at peace in the woods and was an avid sportsman and enjoyed camping, hunting, fishing, and loved traveling on his Harley.

Survivors include his fiancée, Penny McDonald of Simi Valley; two daughters, Heather Mann of Mexico and Erica McDonald of Simi Valley; a son, Matthew McDonald of Simi Valley; his mother, Mrs. Millicent Mann of Mexico; a sister, Deborah Dawson of Rumford; three brothers, W. He was pre-deceased by his father, who died Feb. 11, 1992, and a brother, F. Kirke, who died March 3, 1950.

Funeral Services will be held Thursday, Oct. 22, at 1 p.m. at the Mexico Congregational Church, with the Rev. Ronald Ashworth officiating. Interment will be in the Demerit Cemetery, West Peru. Those who desire, please contribute to the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, 622 Congress Street, Portland, ME 04101 in his memory. It's been a year since our little boy has been gone, it doesn't seem possible. There hasn't been a day gone by when we haven't thought about you, wondering how you are doing and how it would be to have you here. But, I know God is taking care of our Angel and that you are watching over us!

Be a good boy and don't forget Mommy & Daddy loves and misses you very much.

Sadly missed by his parents,
Eddie & Dana

KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuition, area athletes expenses, disabled individual needs, etc.

If you're cleaning the garage, attic or cellar, let us get rid of those unused items for you. Call Al Bath 824-2931 for pick-up.

Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!
